DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 10, 12-15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Dammann, U. S. Patent 4,338,239.

Reference to Dammann specifically teaches aqueous compositions with a polymeric thickener with acrylic acid and comonomers which read on both components B and D of the claims. In column 3 of the reference the specific reaction product of the allyl ether with long chain alkenyl carboxylic acids is taught. This is seen in lines 15-17. Specific mention of the ester of oleic acid is made in column 4, line 40. Copolymers of these monomers in aqueous compositions are taught for use in cosmetic compositions as seen in column 6, lines 61-65. The choice of "cosmetic" composition in combination with the specific long chain esters is either taught or rendered prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art by the teaching of reference to Dammann. Although the range of the carbon atoms for the carboxylic acid is different than the specific claimed range, the overlapping of the ranges makes the choice of the acids within the overlap at least prima facie obvious.
